Government Pension Fund Global

$670 billion

Fund Highlights

- Norway’s Government Pension Fund Global was established in 1990 to stabilize the flow of oil revenue into the budget and save for future generations.

- Despite its name, the fund currently has no formal pension obligations.

- The Ministry of Finance owns the fund on behalf of all Norwegians, however the Norges Bank Investment Management, a branch of the Central Bank, manages it.

- Withdrawals from the fund reflect a fiscal rule, agreed in 2001, that limits the non-oil structural deficit to 4 percent.

- The fund is fully integrated into the government's annual budget; parliament must approve all withdrawals.

- Control and supervisory bodies exist at all levels of fund management.
Fund Inception

- A fund was originally established in 1990 as the Government Petroleum Fund through the Government Petroleum Fund Act.\(^2\)

- The Government Pension Fund Global in its current form was reconstituted and renamed in 2005 through the Government Pension Fund Act (Act 123), which clarifies objectives and management responsibilities.\(^3\)

Fund Objectives

- To operate as a stabilization and savings fund.\(^4\)

- To act as a fiscal policy tool that manages the gradual and sustainable long-term integration of oil revenue into the Norwegian economy.\(^5\)

- To enable government to adapt fiscal policy in response to:
  - Volatile petroleum revenue;
  - Federal budget deficits;
  - Domestic economic uncertainty; and
  - Financial challenges of an aging population.\(^6\)

To make petroleum funds available on a long-term basis.\(^7\)

Fund Deposit Rules

- Income deposited into the Government Pension Fund

Global consists of:

1. Gross petroleum revenues including tax revenues, royalties, operating income from the state’s direct financial interest, dividends, and transfers from the Petroleum Insurance Fund, minus expenses including the government’s direct investments in commercial activities, operating costs related to the state’s direct interest and expenses in the Petroleum Insurance Fund.

2. Net revenues from government sale of shares in Statoil, the national oil company, and other government equity in the sector.

3. Return on fund investments.

Fund Withdrawal Rules

- Since 2001, Norway’s major political parties have agreed that the non-oil structural deficit cannot exceed 4 percent, which is the expected long-run real return on the fund’s investments. Although it has no legal standing, the balanced budget rule limits withdrawals in practice. The fiscal guidelines allow temporary deviations from the rule under specific circumstances.

- Fund capital may only be transferred to the central government budget pursuant to a resolution by Stortinget (Norwegian Parliament).

- The Ministry of Finance can issue supplementary provisions to implement the Government Pension Fund Act 123.

Norway’s fiscal rule determines the size of withdrawals from the Fund.

The Storting passes legislation governing the fund, approves the annual budget, appoints the Supervisory Council members and reviews reports (see next page for details).

The Minister of Finance acts as fund "owner." It delegates operational management to the Norges Bank within a mandate that includes investment guidelines, ethical management, risk management and internal control. It monitors and evaluates fund performance.

The Central Bank Executive Board is the fund’s operational manager. It generates the investment mandate for the fund and outlines principles of risk management, asset allocations and internal management for the NBIM. It is subject to an internal audit.

NBIM is a department within the Norges Bank and is the day-to-day fund manager. It implements investment strategy and exercises active management. NBIM’s strategic plan submitted directly to the Minister of Finance. NBIM Risk Management and Compliance is the internal oversight body that monitors activities and ensures compliance with rules.

The Auditor General performs an audit and reports to the Storting and the government. The Supervisory Council supervises the bank’s activities and ensures that the rules governing operations are observed. It has the right of access to information and investigative powers. It reports to the Storting. The external auditor is selected and reports to the Supervisory Council.
